

Commonly Used Licenses

Licensing

To use data from a report or spreadsheet we need to understand what license is provided with these documents.

Typically, documents on this system will be listed with a Creative Commons License, which means you are required to attribute the work in the manner specified in the license. Learn more about licensing.

If a document does not have a license, then you need to consult with the author to obtain a relevant license before you can attribute that piece of work.